

Solutions for monitoring and tracking will be presented by FULLTIME during the 20th EXPOSEC

Fulltime completes eight years of EXPOSEC | International Security Fair at the next edition of the event, which will be held from May 23 to 25, 2017, at the São Paulo Expo in São Paulo. Present in the electronic security market since 2007, Fulltime's main products are 100% web-based and responsive technology, fully intuitive and user-friendly.

"The participation of Fulltime at EXPOSEC has become more important every year, as well as allowing us to work clearly and with good results with specific clients and prospects of our business, it is a milestone for the company, as we always try to present new trends for the Electronic security market that is constantly growing. Our intention for this 20th edition is to expand our portfolio with quality solutions for monitoring and tracking companies through tools that are becoming more and more fundamental to meet the demand of this market", says Ana Laura Imaizumi, Fulltime Commercial Coordinator.

With a varied portfolio of products, the company brings innovations to the markets of tracking and monitoring:

FullTrack - is a tracking platform that can be fully customized according to the company's visual identity. It has reports and tools ideal for all types of applications on the market, which help control, logistics and time management. With FullTrack, tracking and tracing companies can work with lower operating costs, gain more business flexibility, have on-line or face-to-face training, can work with affiliates, and receive marketing assistance. The platform also has the F/Mobile application that presents many of the web functions in the application, allowing remote actions from where the client is at.

FullManager - is a platform that allows the management of data in SIM Cards of telemetry data, preventing and correcting possible irregularities, so that consumption does not exceed the contracted package, guaranteeing that at the end of the month security companies do not have surprises with the account and nor pay surpluses. It has a system with features that can be used very easily, reducing the time of operation in the control of the lines.

FullArm - is a solution made up of an application that offers and enables security actions such as arming and disarming the alarm panel, and hiding or displaying the monitored sectors. It has a complete history of everything that happens in the monitoring of the property, allowing images captured at the time of a violation to be sent to the client. Opening automated gates, turning lights on and off, and other building automation functions can also be performed remotely via FullArm.

FullControl - is a specific ERP system for monitoring and tracking companies that allows complete financial and administrative management. Its differential lies in the features offered specific to these companies, such as their integration with monitoring systems and Fulltime solutions. Control of flow, products in stock, issue of notes and budgets, integration with monitoring systems, integration with Fulltime solutions, control of attendance and more.

Organized by Cipa Fiera Milano, in partnership with the Brazilian Association of Electronic Security Systems Companies (ABESE), EXPOSEC is a complete business platform for the security industry. The fair brings together the main players of the industry in a single event that is the scene of debates, lectures and demonstrations of the most modern technologies of the segment, directing what will be available to private and public powers in relation to trends in monitoring and perimeter centers, closed circuits, access control, fire detection, security locks, industrial intelligence, electronic and residential security, identification and surveillance systems, transport of securities and transport vehicles, armored vehicles and weapons, among others.

With free admission, the organization of the event anticipates the participation of approximately 800 exhibiting brands and an estimated 42,000 visitors among electronic, private, personal, patrimonial and business security professionals.
